It's United Way time again

Last year – in what was a financially-tough year for many – Chester County employees exceeded all previous levels of giving to the United Way of Chester County. Our giving even earned us special recognition and an award from United Way. So it may be asking a lot to dig even deeper this year, but with the continued offer by the Commissioners of “buying” a day off work for pledging one day's pay, everyone wins. If just a few more employees take up the offer, we'll top last year's level of giving.

By now you should have received a letter and pledge form, asking for a contribution to next year's Chester County United Way campaign. If you haven't received any information, please contact Janelle Serricca on extension 6691 or email jserricca@chesco.org. The deadline for pledges – sent back to Janelle Serricca in the Commissioners' Office – is Monday, November 16th.

The amount to top this year?... $72,000!

We crunched away on Apple Crunch Day

With the “Red Delicious”, “Gala” or “McIntosh” delivery of apples on October 28th, Chester County employees crunched their way to the core. It was all part of Apple Crunch Day, sponsored by the County Wellness Program.

Phillies Day in Chester County – the flag flew proudly

The lights may have gone out for the Phillies at the end of the 6th game of this year's World Series, but the Phillies spirit shown by many Chester County employees was evident throughout the playoffs. Such was the level of Phillies fever this year, that the Commissioners even proclaimed Philadelphia Phillies Day in Chester County and flew the Phillies flag in front of the Justice Center for the duration of the World Series. Never mind about the result. We're confident the Phillies flag will be flying again for next year's World Series Championships.
